

2020 Global Collaborative Course

Course Title	Latin America-Asia as Method toward the Global South Project
Date/Time	Mon-Fri 09:00-12:00 (Office Hour: by appointment)
Course Description	This course explores the current political, economic and social issues of Latin America as a central “locus” of transnational transactions in the globalized world. By focusing on the division of international power and labor into so called “North-South,” we will study on topics such as anthropocene, neoliberal extractivism, coloniality, violence, religion, race, class and gender across the continent of America, which also includes US Latino and Hispanics. In particular, this course examines the possibility and limitation of “Trans-Pacific Studies” through the lens of current cultural interactions between Latin America and Asia (especially Korea) in order to see new global collaboration and solidarity. In the class, we are going to read articles, watch movies and video clips and discuss on the related topics.
Textbook	Course materials will be distributed. (TBA)
Evaluation	attendance: 10% / class participation: 20% presentation: 20% / final exam: 50%
