Finally, by comparing U.S. and Spanish cultural trends, students should gain a new understanding of their own culture and cultural adaptation. We will look at far-reaching social issues such as politics, gender, class and religion, as well as issues facing Spain today such as obesity, regionalism, changing trends in food, and especially the Spanish family.

- Explain and interpret how the history of Spain influences contemporary Spanish society.
- Recognize and apply conceptual tools required in cultural studies giving special importance to intercultural strategies and sensibility.
- Develop critical thinking as a way to read and understand political, social and economic factors reflected in contemporary Spanish culture.

- Produce active and relevant class discussion and create high-quality academic papers.

METHODOLOGY

The course will use a combination of guided lectures, classroom interaction, student presentations and tours of the city.

EVALUATION

Attendance to classes and field trips is mandatory; poor attendance will affect the final grade of the student as well as the everyday participation grade.

The final grade consists of four different parts: class participation, a midterm written exam, a final written exam, and a final project. The breakdown of grades is made up as follows:

Class participation	15%
Class presentation	15%
Journal/forum/Photo Project	10%
Midterm written exam	20%
Final written exam	20%
Final paper	20%

Class Participation: Active class participation includes coming to class prepared, having read the material for that day, answering questions from the professor, asking questions and engaging in group activities. Students are encouraged to express their opinions in class with the professor and the other students.

Final Project: The final project consists of both a written report and an oral presentation. By the 3rd week of class, students will have chosen a topic linked to the syllabus and must get final approval from the professor for the topic of choice. This early start to the final project provides students with ample time to research their topic, meet with group members (if applicable), and not leave everything for the last minute.

Students are expected to demonstrate original and critical thinking as well as analytical reflection from scholarly research cited properly.

Exams: Both the midterm and the final exams may contain a mix of multiple choice, short answer and essay questions aimed to test the students' full comprehension of facts and the ability to argue his/her opinions based on class material.

The guidelines for exams are as follows-

- Any student found cheating will automatically fail this examination. Additional sanctions may be imposed.
- Talking or communicating with other students during the examination is forbidden.
- Desks must be cleared of all books, notes and papers. All unauthorized materials must be put away and remain out of sight throughout the examination.
- All telephones and electronic devices must be turned completely off during the exam.
- Students arriving later than 15 minutes will not be allowed into the classroom to take the examination, subject to the decision of the instructor.
- At the end of the examination students will remain seated until their papers are collected. No one may leave the room until excused.
- Should assistance be required, students will attract the attention of the instructor.
- Failure to follow these rules will automatically lead to failure of this examination.

FIELD STUDIES

Each course will include a minimum of 2 field studies. These field studies will be directly related to the course work, and may include visits to monuments, companies, government buildings, or museums. A potential field study may include a visit to El Born Cultural Center. El Born is a neighborhood in Barcelona, and this cultural center provides a look into some of the history of Barcelona.
