

AVIA 210: Global Aviation Management and Law

Course Description

This course covers the fundamental aspects of the management of airlines and airports as well as the development of air law including international and national regulatory functions, rights and liabilities of aviators and operators. It also provides a study of international conventions, agreements, and associations such as the International Civil Aviation Organization, International Air Transport Association, and Airports Council International focusing on an examination of the global aviation priorities.

Prerequisites: AVIA 100

Credits: 3 credit hours, 6 ECTS

Hellenic American University fully complies with federal requirements relating to Title IV program participation vis-a-vis the award of academic credit. The basic unit of credit at Hellenic American University is the semester hour. In a typical 15-week semester, each credit awarded corresponds to one contact hour of classroom instruction per week, which is supplemented by a minimum of two hours of appropriate out-of-class activities of appropriate academic rigor.

Learning Outcomes

At the conclusion of this course, students will be able to:

- Describe the aviation industry structure, including the role of airports, air carriers, air navigation providers, general aviation and regulators.
- Outline the fundamental treaties and conventions that govern international air transportation.
- Identify the major international aviation organizations, and define their missions and functions.
- Identify current international aviation management and legal topics and discuss their significance for system efficiency.

Course Requirements

In order to successfully complete the course, the student must:

- Attend class regularly (see attendance policy).
- Study coursework and follow Blackboard contents.
- Actively participate in class activities.
- Complete homework for every class that is required.
- Satisfactorily complete all assessments activities related to the course.

Policies and Procedures

Attendance Policy:

Class participation and attendance are an integral part of the University's education policy: "Our mission requires of us that we pursue excellence in education...We are therefore committed to following the best practices of American higher education that encourage and require punctuality as well as attendance."

Plagiarism Policy:

Students are responsible for performing academic tasks in such a way that honesty is not in question. Academic Honesty Policy in the University Catalog states: "plagiarism is defined as copying another student's work, lending work to another student or representing extracts or whole articles and texts from books or handouts as one's own work". More details on this policy can be found in your Student Handbook.

Add-Drop Policy:

Students should follow the university Add-Drop policies as defined in the Catalog and Student Handbook.

Writing Into Disciplines (WID)

The Hellenic American University fosters the idea that writing as a process is fundamental to learning. In this framework all undergraduate courses incorporate writing as an essential means to promoting communication and the exchange of information across the disciplines.

Assignments

The assignments for this class will be in the form of individual homework and group projects. Each student will submit assignments at a predetermined date and time. More information about these assignments will be given at a later time.

Make-up and Late Assignments

Students are expected to manage their time appropriately so as to submit their assignments on time. Late assignments will receive no credit. Exceptions to this rule will be considered on an individual basis.

Method of Evaluation

Grading for assignments and exams will be on a scale of 0% to 100%. Final grade will be computed by weighting all scores as follows:

Attendance & Participation	25%
Homework	25%
Final Presentation	50%
	<hr/>
	100%
